

Renato Rjavec

Director of Product Management at Amplexor Life Sciences

Renato Rjavec is Director of Product Management at Amplexor Life Sciences and is responsible for its product portfolio. Over the last sixteen years at the company, he has held various positions in delivery, development and finally product management organization, where he gained deep insight in the industry needs and rich experience in the definition, development and implementation of end-to-end regulatory and quality solutions for the global life sciences industry.